WELCOME!

EMILY VIEWEG JOINS THE SODAA LEARNING COMMUNITY

Emily Vieweg is a poet and writer living and working in Fargo, ND. She earned her B.A. in Psychology, and her M.F.A. in Writing from Lindenwood University in St. Charles, MO (a mere five minutes from her childhood home). For the past several years Emily has been active in Poetry Out Loud (Poets in the Schools) through ND Council of the Arts, and has published two chap-books and one full-length collection of poetry. She

Emily is active in NDSU Staff Senate, Pride Network, Pride Alliance, Safe Zone, Including U, and Community of Respect. She is dedicated to helping individuals share their opinions, through whatever format (written, spoken, visual, sculpture, performance, etc). Behavior is communication, and a voice is more than “just spoken word.”

Emily is pursuing an M.S. in Sociology at NDSU, as well as Graduate Certificates in: Women & Gender Studies, College Teaching, and Student Affairs Administration.

DIONNA MARTEL JOINS THE SODAA LEARNING COMMUNITY

Dionna Martel serves as the Business Coordinator for the School of Design, Architecture, and Art. She provides assistance with budget management, financial reporting, HR/Payroll, and serves as a source of policy and procedural knowledge for the School. Dionna earned her Bachelor of Science degree in Business Management/Computer Information Systems from the University of Mary. For over a decade, Dionna has been a member of the NDSU community, working in various roles with financial management and research administration.

In addition to her professional career, Dionna is a ceramic artist. Her passion for the arts has allowed her to explore her creativity by taking a number of Visual Art classes offered by SoDAA. Dionna is inspired by traditional Pueblo pottery, Chinese Celadon ceramics, and different surface design techniques such as burnishing, sgraffito, and majolica.

ARCH STUDENT TOUR WELL CONCRETE

WELLS CONCRETE- ARCHITECTURAL PRECAST PLANT

For over 20 years, Wells concrete has hosted the 3rd year architecture students during the fall semester Materials & Construction course.

The students were able to tour the entire plant on Tuesday, September 26th including the concrete mixing facility, testing/quality control, casting forms, pre-tensioning equipment, wood shop, metal fabrication and the finishing plant. What a great way to wrap up our recent sessions on concrete!

HEBRON BRICK ACTIVITY

As you can see... the third year Arch students have been busy this fall!

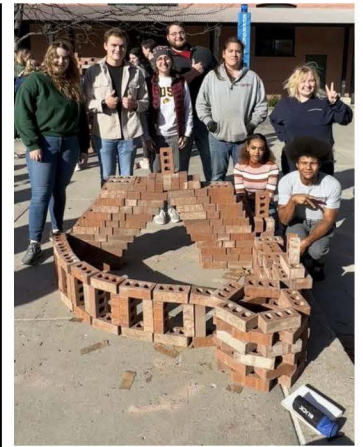

When: Thursday, October 12th 10:00 - 11:15

What: Every fall, Hebron brick graciously loans the 3rd year architecture students over 2,000 bricks to experiment with. This dry-stacking activity allows the students to understand the potential and also the limitations of masonry construction. Armed with a few guidelines and criteria, the students have to get in a group, sketch out a design, and then execute... which sometimes goes according to plan, and other times revisions are required. There is no equal for learning about a material's potential then getting your hands on it and creating something real.

MEET BREWHALLA DESIGNER

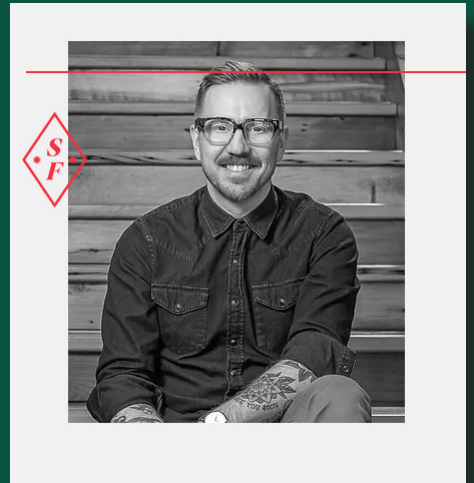

NATHANIEL NAVRATIL!

WEDNESDAY, NOV 1

4:30PM @BREWHALLA W/TOUR

ADClub is hosting an event you don't want to miss!

Next week on Wednesday, November 1, you are invited to meet one part of the creative team behind all the quirky and weird illustrations & designs at Fargo's one and only, Brewhalla!

Nathaniel Navratil has been a local designer for many years and will give a tour of the facility while discussing the creative work that went into it. This is being arranged by AD Club, but all students are welcome to join. No need to be a member to attend or participate. The tour will start promptly at 4:30pm, so you should plan to be there a few minutes before then and prepared with questions and a sketchbook to take notes.

Everyone going will meet at Brewhalla (1702 1st Ave N, Fargo, ND) so if you need to carpool, or arrange a ride with someone, you have some time to make some plans. This is a great chance to chat in-person with a knowledgeable and award-winning designer who has helped shape part of Fargo's visual landscape.

In the meantime, if you have any questions, please reach out to myself, Prof Knight, or Prof Crawford. Hope to see you there!

ART & DESIGN + FACULTY EXHIBITION

OCTOBER 17-NOVEMBER 2

MEMORIAL UNION GALLERY

The 2023-2024 Faculty Exhibition features the creative explorations of Visual Arts Faculty at North Dakota State University. The Professional Practicing Artists from the Visual Arts Department are continually researching and developing their craft to contribute to the contemporary art discussion through publication and exhibition. This exhibit features these artists' newest visual artworks in sculpture, painting, ceramics, printmaking, photography and mixed media. The Gallery is also pleased to showcase a collection of works by retiring Woodshop Technician Jeff Hanson and SODAA's Artist in Residence David Marmer.

DOWNLOAD THE MEMORIAL UNION GALLERY APP! AVAILABLE FOR ANDROID AND IOS.

T H E M E

We wake, we work, we rest.

Where does intention end and conditioning begin?

Some say we become what we repeatedly think, do, practice.

How do our repetitions and rituals inform our lives?

Time will always move forward.

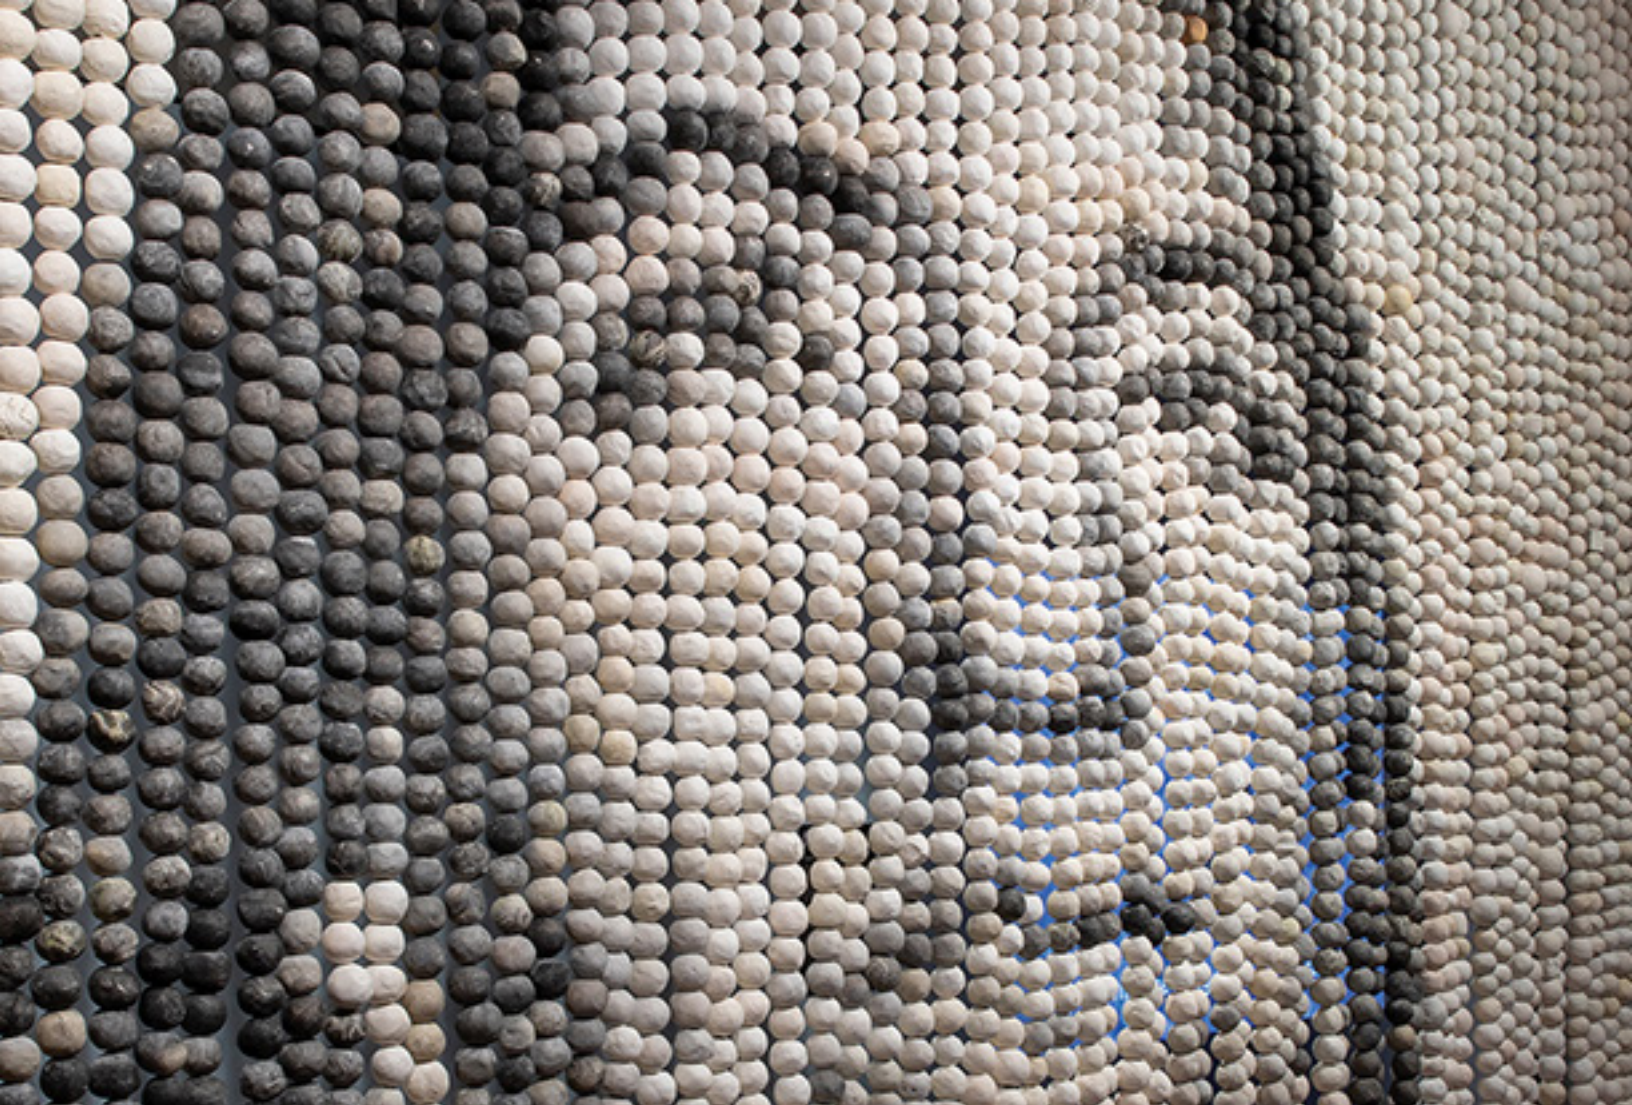

While the clock continues to tick,
what patterns do you embrace?

What patterns do you abandon?

THE PRACTICE IS THE POINT

SEPT 30- MARCH 17 PLAINS ART MUSEUM

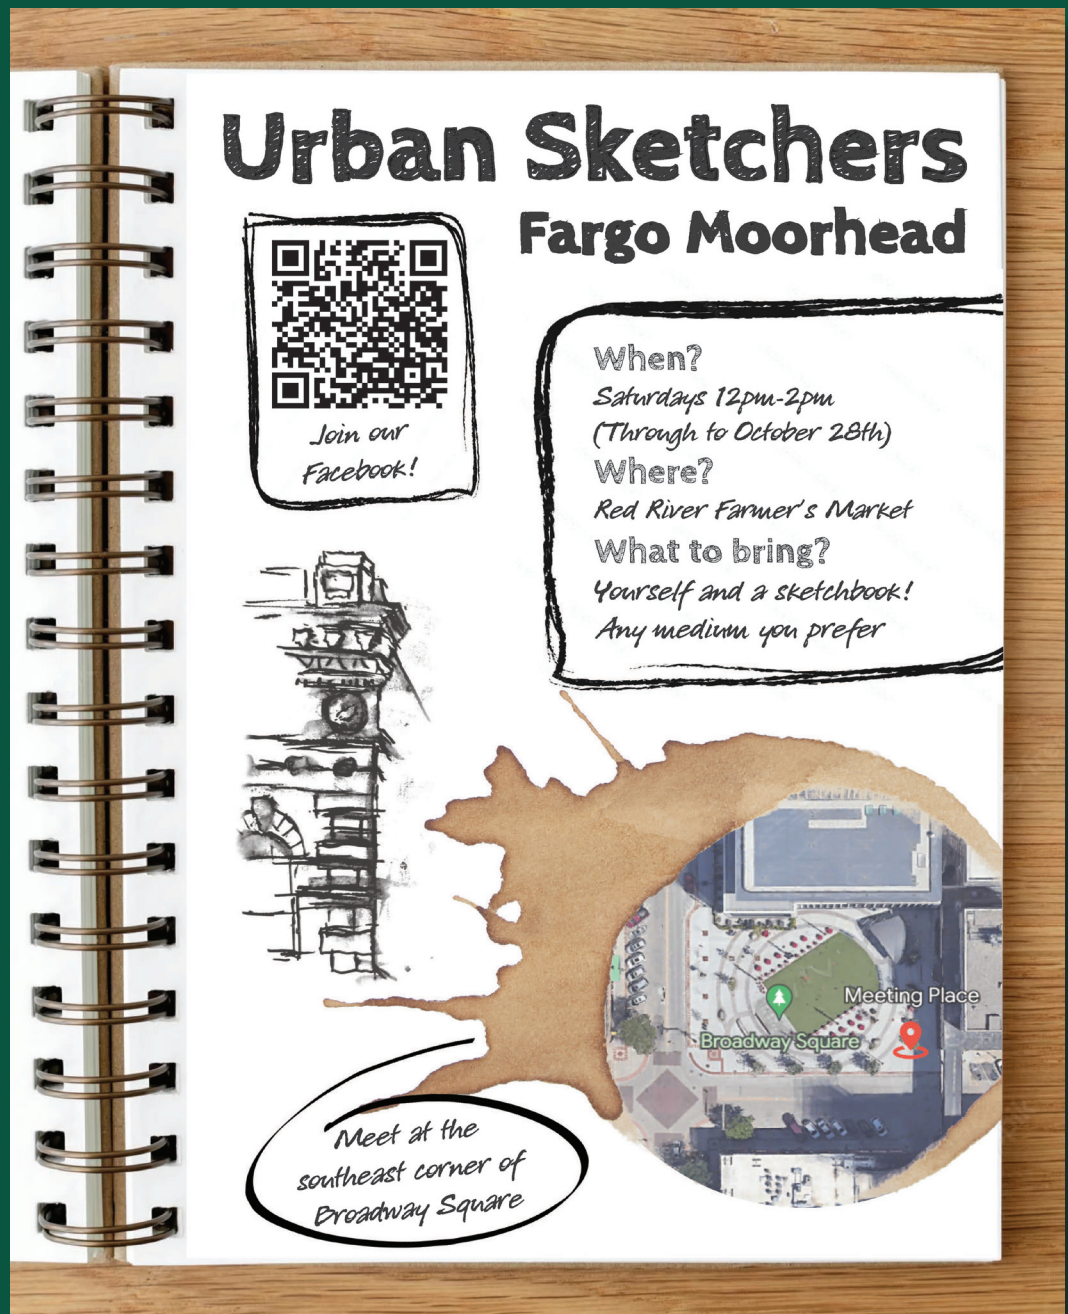

WILLIAM AND ANNA JANE SCHLOSSMAN GALLERY

Can clay help better the world?

The Practice is the Point celebrates the union of artistic and social practice, by exploring the ways artists create, listen, and react to the needs of their communities. The exhibition stems from a long running thesis by NDSU professor, School of Design, Architecture, and Art Director, and ceramic artist Michael Strand, who argues ceramic artists have a proclivity for working with communities to help create positive change.

His belief is that the relationships and skills required to be a ceramic artists can function as a scaffold for other community-based projects. Each artist and organization featured in this exhibition has a different approach, using their time, knowledge, art, or ideas to listen and create change in the world. Featuring work from artists Julia Galloway, Cannupa Hanska Luger, Eddie Dominguez, Steve Hilton, Paul Wong, Amber Ginsberg, Fargo Public School students, and more, this exhibition will bring you on a path of love and hard work to help you see that the practice really is, in fact, the point.
